DEMOCRATIC CITIZENSHIP EDUCATION

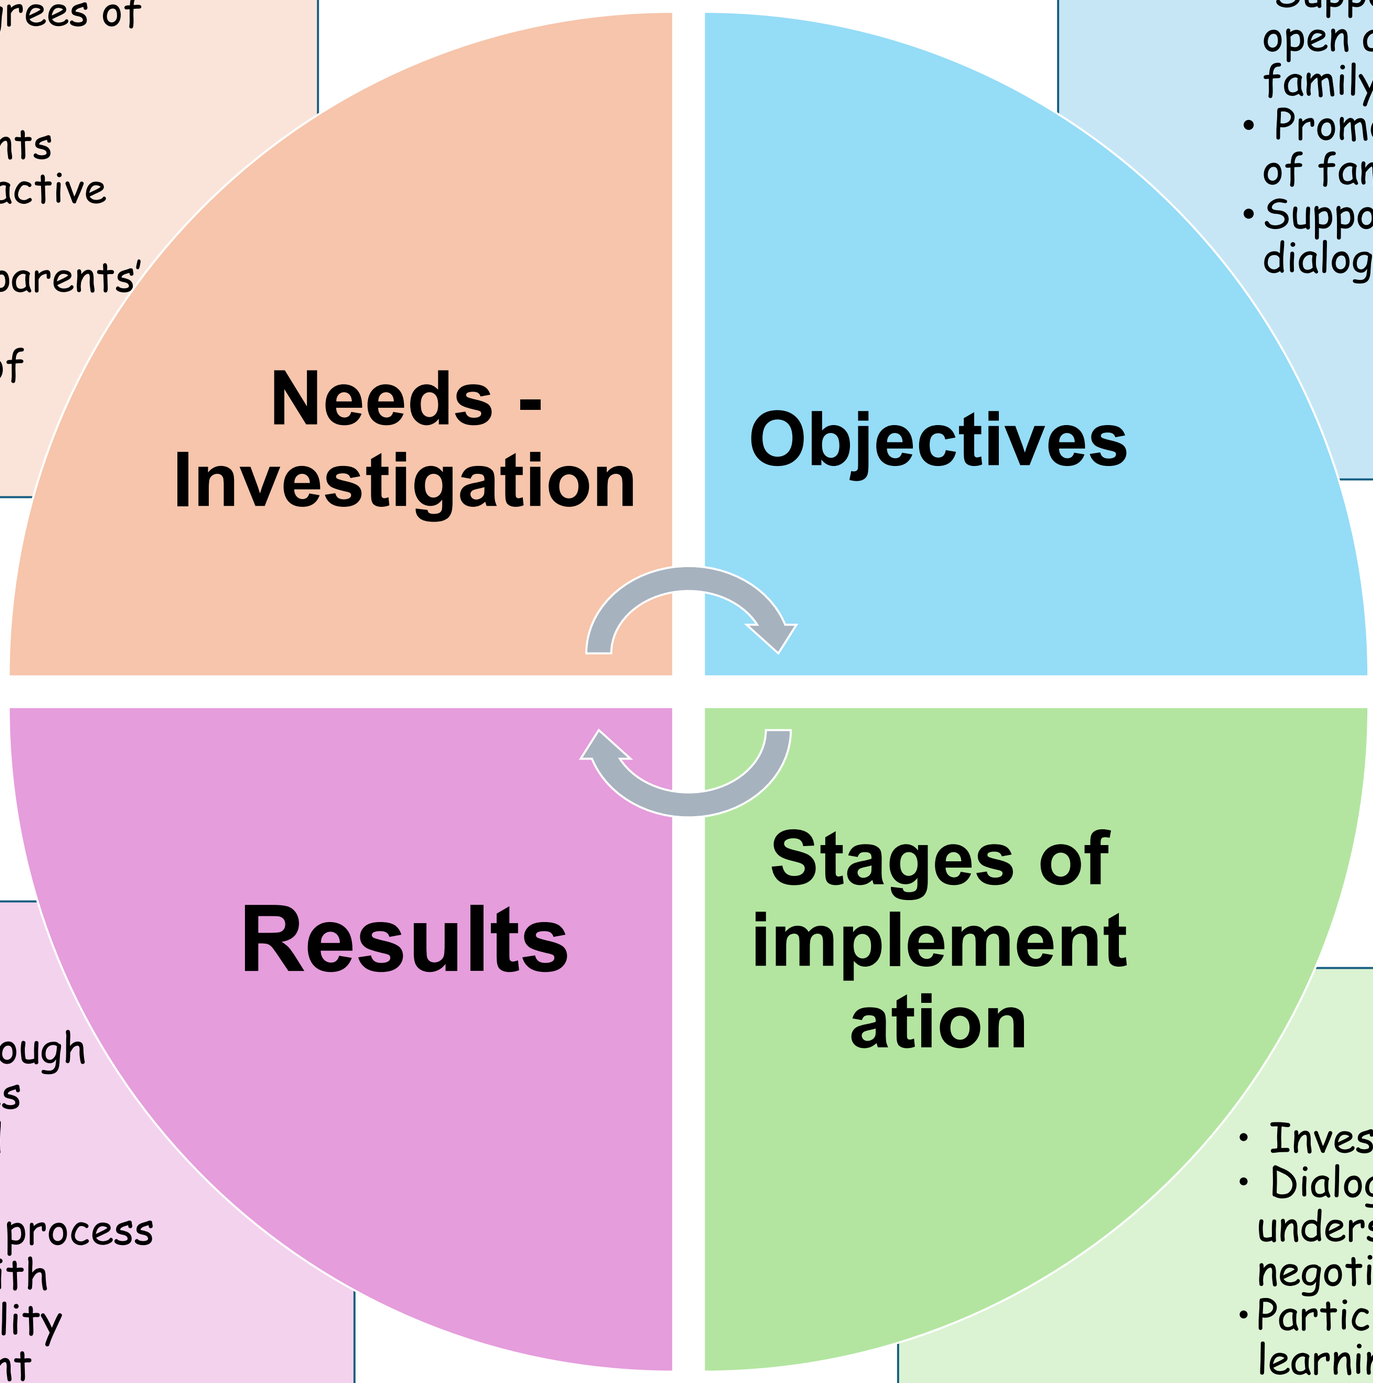

Teacher Academy Project

12th KINDERGARTEN OF KILKIS
Democracy is important: involving parents in the school's decision-making process

Dr. Velkou Kyriaki

- Families with different degrees of proximity to the school
- Unequal power relationship between teachers and parents
- Parents' expectations for active participation
- Students' desire to their parents' participation in school life
- Recognition of the value of parents' participation in children's learning

- Supporting a school that is open and accessible to the family
- Promoting different forms of family involvement
- Supporting meaningful dialogue

- Documentation through collective processes
- A common view and perspective on the children's learning process
- Framing learning with experiences of quality parental involvement

- Investigation
- Dialogue: listen, understand, share, negotiate
- Participation: action and learning
- Collaboration in decision-making

Dimension of the Democratic Statehood

Knowledge, understanding and respect of the educational framework
Respect, cooperation, acceptance of the diversity of families
Participation in the joint decision-making for the organization of the educational work

